

I really enjoyed my time at FGV

Forget everything you have ever experienced. Brazil is nothing like that! From the very first step inside Sao Paulo you realize your life will not be at all what it was before. Sao Paulo, a charming hectic city, it is not for the ones who wish a quiet life. This Latin New York will offer you an unforgettable experience. The economic, financial and educational heart of Brazil is a gastronomic feast for food lovers, a place with wonderful parks, great night life and most of all, with some of the happiest and most charming people on the planet. Sao Paulo is an incredibly diverse and interesting city.

Moreover, I really enjoyed my time at FGV university, in many ways an institution very similar to EBS. Apart from the advantage of small classes, very innovative subjects, outstanding and supporting professors, the ace of this university I believe it to be the timetable. I only had classes in the afternoon allowing me to get involved in other activities as classes of Portuguese and volleyball training as part of the school's team.

Finally, getting around South America with my friends was another thing I really enjoyed at the fullest. It was divine. Incredible sightseeing, beautiful souvenirs, memorable new cultures and customs.

I recommend FGV university, Brazil and in particular Sao Paulo to all of you who want to discover, to learn and enjoy. Just a piece of advice: prepare yourself with confidence and a big smile for an incredible experience!"
