

Regent's University London and the Tutu Foundation UK – Partners of the annual International New York Times World Speech Day

present

International Peace Summit: Resolving Conflicts through Mediation

Saturday 9 April 2016

at Regent's University London, Regent's Park, London, NW1 4NS

09:00 Registration with tea/coffee

09:30 Introduction by Professor Aldwyn Cooper, Vice Chancellor of Regent's University London

09:45 Policing Conflict in Belfast, London, South Africa, USA and the Gaza Strip

Panellists: Sir Hugh Orde, Peter Sheridan, PC Sakira Suzia

Chair: Professor Andrew Pilkington

Panellist's presentations will be followed by questions from the floor

11:00 Mid-morning break

11:20 Choice of two talks

1. Psychology of Conflict with Paul Randolph

This session will demonstrate how psychology can deliver significant practical insights into human behaviour in conflict, and provide guidance on how most effectively to manage or resolve conflicts wherever they arise.

2. Mediation in International Conflicts with Spenser Hilliard

This session will include extracts from the film 'The Agreement', about the mediation by UK diplomat Robert Cooper of the border dispute between Serbia and Kosovo.

12:20 In the time of floods, the wise build bridges with Nontombi Tutu

13:00 LUNCH

14:00 Choice of two talks

1. Psychology of Conflict with Paul Randolph

This session will demonstrate how psychology can deliver significant practical insights into human behaviour in conflict, and provide guidance on how most effectively to manage or resolve conflicts wherever they arise.

2. Mediation in International Conflicts with Spenser Hilliard

This session will include extracts from the film 'The Agreement', about the mediation by UK diplomat Robert Cooper of the border dispute between Serbia and Kosovo.

15:00 Student Voices, presentation by International Relationship Students from Regent's University London

15:40 Mid-afternoon break

16:00 Stories from the Ground

Panellists: Martin Bell, Tamara Ben-Halim, Mungi Ngomane, Serena Chaudhry and Dr Neven Andjelic

Chair: Dr Kit Barton

Panellist's presentations will be followed by questions from the floor

17:00 Reflections of the day with Paul Randolph

17:30 End

After the Summit, delegates are invited to attend the launch of Paul Randolph's new book, The Psychology of Conflict: Mediating in a Diverse World