

My SPA at Bologna University

(and exploring interesting places)

“I was in Bologna for one year. It was the best time of my life. For my SPA I wanted to try something completely different from London. Bologna was the obvious choice. It is a university city with 100,000 students and the whole city lives for its university. I was the only EBS student going to Bologna, which was a very good thing. It made me socialise more and forced me to use the Italian language. I really miss Bologna. My best advice to students going on their SPA is to keep an open mind. Remember you do not go to a place to teach them how things are done in London, whether regards to university or life in general. You go on your SPA to experience other cultures live.”
